business cloud

Platform-as-a-Service

Clearvale PaasPort enables your company to build a business – and sell new services – over the cloud, on BroadVision's Clearvale® enterprise social networking platform.

Create an enterprise social network for your company, then grow that into an ecosystem of networks for your customers and partners by reselling the Clearvale solution standalone or as a larger package of services. Host your own installation and build and integrate with new, third party applications including email, IM and voice, and provide your business customers and partners with a unified communications platform.

What we offer our PaasPort partners:
